ACADEMICS

Classes

Students take 3-6 credits from George Mason University. The courses are designed to complement your D.C. internship experience by offering a thorough examination of our free enterprise system and the economic way of thinking. Elective classes cover engaging topics such as American political thought or U.S. foreign policy, as well as an internship seminar.

Guest Lectures

Learn, question and exchange business cards with some of the city's best public policy, international affairs and economics experts, as well as journalists, public relations and communications professionals in D.C.

NETWORKING + BRIEFINGS

Alumni Roundtable + Networking Reception

Meet with program alumni and industry leaders to learn how to leverage your D.C. experience into a future internship or full-time job after graduation. Participants include top lobbyists, nonprofit executives, journalists, Capitol Hill staffers, Foreign Service officers and policy makers.

Mentor Program

Be matched with a D.C. professional working in your career field. Your mentor will be another contact on the ground before you arrive in D.C. and during your internship. You will receive tips for living in Washington as well as career advice and networking contacts.

Site Briefings

Attend exclusive tours and hear from leaders within such powerful institutions as:

- Central Intelligence Agency
- Embassies
- Federal Reserve
- International Monetary Fund
- National Press Club
- U.S. Congress
- U.S. Department of State
- U.S. Securities + Exchange Commission

Professional Development Seminars

Attend weekly seminars covering essential job searching topics such as resume, cover letter and interviewing preparation, as well as skill-building in areas that will help set you apart in today's competitive job market including public speaking, networking, personal finances, graduate school admissions and fellowships.

Career + Industry Exploration

Designed to help you explore a variety of career paths and to further build your network, attend career-focused panels and small group discussions led by professionals working in a range of fields and industries.
