Professor Biography: Karen M. Czarnecki, Mercatus Center at George Mason University

Karen M. Czarnecki has spent over two decades in politics and public policy. She is currently the Vice President of Outreach for the Mercatus Center at George Mason University. She previously served as director of education at the Law and Economics Center at Scalia Law School at George Mason. She has also served as a Congressional Chief of Staff and as a senior advisor to U.S. Secretary of Labor Elaine L. Chao in several capacities: Director of the Office of the 21st Century Workforce; Deputy Assistant Secretary for Intergovernmental Affairs, and Acting Assistant Secretary for Disability Employment. Czarnecki received her BA and JD degrees from The Catholic University of America and is also an alumna of the TFAS Public Policy and Economics program.

Required Texts:

How Washington Really Works, by Charles Peters

Supplemental Materials:

- The instructor regularly supplements textbook readings with journal articles, book chapters, essays, and other material. It is the student’s responsibility to consult Blackboard weekly for updated materials prior to each class.

Course Goals:

- To further an understanding of how Washington, DC, public policy works
- To develop writing and presentation skills applicable to your future careers
- To highlight current events in the context of internship experiences

Format:

- Subject matter lectures
- Readings
- Active discussion regarding class topics, internships, assigned readings
- Student group presentations illustrating class work, assigned readings, and research
- Homework assignments
Expectations:

- The instructor and students will act with the highest level of professional ethics, demonstrate a genuine interest in the subject matter at hand, and come to every class fully prepared to engage in the learning process.
- Students will complete all of the readings in advance of each class, and come to class ready to discuss their own experiences and insights regarding the lessons at hand.
- Students will adhere to the George Mason University Honor Code. Copying, cheating, or plagiarism will not be tolerated.
- Students will attend all class sessions and participate in class discussions. Students who are unable to attend any particular class must, to the fullest extent practicable, inform the instructor of their pending absence in advance. The instructor will work to accommodate every student’s situation, where appropriate, including unexpected family or personal challenges and unanticipated events (e.g. a death in the family, severe illness, hospitalization, etc.).
- Unless otherwise agreed upon by the instructor, students will submit all their assignments on time, prior to the beginning of each class via Blackboard. With rare exception, late assignments will be marked down a minimum of one full letter grade. Students are expected to proofread their written products for typos and grammatical errors, which if left unchecked, will result in a lower grade.
- The instructor will maintain an open-door policy and be available to field any questions, concerns, comments, etc. within a reasonable timeframe.
- Please note that in order to accommodate speaker schedules, some changes in class content may occur. The professor or TFAS staff will send out a note to students if there is a change in schedule.
